LONDON, March 20, 1874. In the House of Commons to-day when the report on the address to the Crown was presented Mr. Issac Butt moved an amendment, represent ing the dissatisfaction of Ireland with the present system of government, and declaring it to be the duty of Parliament to consider speedily the means of removing such discontent.

Mr. Butt said the Irish asked for the managemant of their local affairs, leaving to Parliament the control of supreme matters. The government of Ireland was based on distrust. The people asked the new Prime Minister not for immediate home rule, but for a complete policy of conciliation. The Lord Mayor of Dublin seconded the amend-

The Army Bill Again Rejected.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

BERLIN, March 20, 1874. The committee of the Reichstag has voted a second time against fixing the ordinary strength of the army at 400,000 men.

Bismarck's Military Bills. The army bills which have been presented to the Pruss an Reichstag, with the official documents forwarded in support of them, go to prove the predominance of the military spirit in the government or the German Empire despite, the fact that a majority of the Legislative Body is opposed to their adoption, and that their forcible ad-vocacy by the Prince Chancellor indicates unessiness on his part with regard to the maintenance of the existing peace ul relations in Europe. They prove that Prince Bismarck is fully determined to be prepared for future emergencies. The effective military strength, as fixed in the bills, is 17.033 officers, 401,659 non-commissioned officers, private soldiers and musicians; 1,679 surgeons, 681 paymasters, 604 veter-inary surgeons, 587 armorers, 93 saddiers and 93,158 horses. The number o inlantry regiments is 148. There is provided a school for gunnery and six schools for sub-onicers. Besides these there are 25 battalions of chasseurs, 274 landwehr district commands, 93 cavality regiments, 1 military riding school, 35 regiments of field artillery, 13 regiments of foot artillery, 3 battalions of hose artillery, 18 battalions of pioneers and train, 1 railway battalion at Berlin and a railway battalion at Berlin and a railway battalion company in Bavaria. The schools 10. cadets receive special attention. In these nurseries for officers there now live 1,800 young men under instruction and training. It states that the party which was searching for the Younger Brothers was composed of Deputy Sheriff Daniells, of Oscoola, and two detectives, whose names were not given, who, while riding a long the road, were overtaken by the Youngers and ordered to lay down their arms and surrender. One of the detectives ran and escaped, while the others surrendered and gave up their arms. James Younger then shot and killed Daniells, and while firing on the detective the latter drew a Deringer, which he had concealed, and shot John Younger. The detective is now at Roscoe, lying in a critical condition, with three builets in his back and a load of buckshot in the left shoulder.

During the day the discharged miners gathered at the shafts, and ende wored by threats and persuasion to prevent the new hands going to work, but were unsuccessiu, and were finally sent off the premises. Last evening the wives of the discharged miners gathered in the vicinity of the shaft and assailed gathered in the vicinity of the shaft and assailed the new men and the President of the mining company with eggs and other missies, and the trouble finally reached the dimensions of a riot, which the town authorities being unable to suppress, Governor Beveridge was telegraphed to for military aid. In response the Governor despatched Adjutant General Higgins, with a quantity of arms, to the scene of trouble, and telegraphed the Sheriff to aid in suppressing the disturbance.

To-day a number of the rioters were arrested, and at last advices were being tried before a Justice of the Peace. There appears to be great excitement in Minonk, but so far there is no account of serious damage.

VIGILATE ET ORATE.

McDowell County, N. C., March 20, 1874. From my own personal observation I am able to verify the accounts already furnished concerning the premonitory symptoms of an earthquake or volcano now existing on Bald Mountain. This mountain is situated between Crooked Creek, in McDowell county, and Stone Mountain, in Rutherford county, in this State. The first symptoms of earthly convuision were noticed on the 10th of February, when there was a terrible rumbling heard, evidently coming from the very bowels of the earth. This continued until the 22d of February, when the noise became so violent that the people left their homes and have not since returned. Prayer meetings have been inaugurated in the neighborhood, and for the last sixteen days the preachers have had their hands full dealing with the wants of the mourners. There never was much religion in this part of the county, but to-day it is hard to meet a man who is not travelling on the narrow path to salvation. There seems to be a general expectance of a big bursting forth of the volcano, and business in this section is generally suspended, religion being the order of the day.

The rumbling sounds in the mountain may be still heard.

I attempted to ascend the mountain this morning but was driven back by a blinding storm.

Corroboration from the Tennessee Side of the Line-Terror, Prayer and Penitence of the Mountain Residents-Penticostal Gatherings.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 20, 1874. For the last twenty days the greatest excitement has prevailed for a distance of twenty-five miles around and in the vicinity of Bald Mountain. This mountain is situated between Crooked Creek, in McDowell county, and Broad River, the mountain also extending into Rutherford county. That portion of the range within McDowell county is generally called Stone Mountain.

THE "TERRIBLE LUMBERING."

The first signs of alarm in this locality were witnessed on the 10th of February. This consisted in what the people call a terrible lumbering, the earth seeming to quiver to a frightful extent. Some parties describe it as terrible thunder gradually dying away in the distance, others as the roaring of heavy artillery in the distance.

ADDITIONAL TESTIMONY.

On the 12th of February, two gentlemen on the highest point of Baid Mountain, known as Harris' View, which is said to be next to Mount Mitchell in height, heard this strange noise. One of them says It at first reminded him of the falling of heavy timher and presented a strange combination of sounds and impressions. Parties living on the mountain sides and at the base heard the same noise. All taink that the noise was in the mountain. One man says when he was on one side of the mountain the terrible noise was in the direction of the mountain and when on the opposite side the same indications were observed. All feel satisfied that the noise proceeded alone from this mountain. But on the 22d of February the noise had reached such a point as to be perfectly terrible. UPSETTING THE KITCHEN UTENSILS. Among the persons living on the mountain are Mr. Camp, Johnston Elliott, Noah Elliott, Widow Nanny, George Morgan, James Gilbert and others, From the statements of all these parties, and of perhaps fifty others, the mountain was actually shak ing. The moving was as if the entire mountain was giving way. The table ware and the furniture in the house all rocked and joited with frightful force. It is said that the cattle have become alarmed and have wandered from their usual

EXCEEDING FEAR, QUARING AND PREACHING. Such was the alarm that at about twelve o'clock on the night of the 22d ult. the people for miles around began to assemble at the house of a Mr. Camp. Camp, having gone to the woodpile for wood, became so alarmed that he fell upon his knees and began to pray aloud. Very soon the terrible quaking of the mountain was such that the great crowd now assembled engaged in prayer. At daybreak on Monday morning George Logan, a colored Baptist preacher, was sent for in great haste, and so impatient were they of his arrival that a portion of the crowd met him on the road, beseeching him to come and pray and preach. The people thus assembled remained in their devotions three days, when they moved a short distance to a vacant house, the property of Harris Elliott. On the third day Billy Logan, a white man and Baptist preacher, was sent for and

WHISKEY SINNERS SEE FOR MERCY. On March 3 J. M. Lumiy, a Methodist minister, in charge of Broad River mission, was importuned to attend and preach, and promptly complied with the request. From an eve-witness the scenes are described as most strange and extraordinary. The people came flocking in crowds of fifteen and twenty, including men, women and children, all presenting the most terrible state of fear, despair and penitence. On the day Mr. Lumly preached the house was literally packed, the preacher barely having room to stand. So great was the rush to hear that many rushed up the side of the walls and crowded on the joists above. Only a portion of the upper story having a floor, and many, not being able to enter the house, crowded their heads in the door and all around the house, manifesting the most intense interest.

RETURN OF THE DAY OF PENTECOST. When the call was made for mourners the Dec-ple rushed from all parts of the house and from the outside, with almost frantic yells, and fell upon the floor and upon each other, all praying and supplicating in the most heartfelt and agonizing manner ever witnessed on earth. These exercises continued incessantly for sixteen days and nights, with but little intermission. During this time the people all lived in common. No attention was given to labor or property. Cattle, horses and hogs were turned into the woods, and the entire people within the range of this awful excitement have concluded that they have but a few more days to live. About 100 have made profession of religion. The closing scenes of this strange meeting are represented as most peculiar and wonder-

THE MILLENNIUM HOURLY EXPECTED During most of this period of sixteen days the mountain had continued at intervals to present the same alarming impressions; but, having prayed, shouted, sung and agenized for this long period, they separated, with the promise that all would remain and die if necessary. It is said that the awe-stricken countenances, the melancholy demeanor of this vast crowd on the breaking up of the devotions are beyond all description.

SMOKE AND VAPOR FROM THE MOUNT. A letter was received in this city to-day by a gentleman whose mother resides near Bald Mountain, stating that near the summit of that peak an area of nearly an acre was agitated by subterranean upheavals and then sinking, from which smoke and vapor issued.
